About our Presenters:

Karen P. Sampson, Esquire

For over 15 years Karen has dedicated her law and mediation career to helping individuals and couples navigate through their divorce issues, with a focus on finding the best possible solutions and looking ahead to the future. She provides her clients with education, advice and assistance, empowering them to make the best decisions for them and their families. An advocate for co-parenting communication, Karen understands the importance for parents to communicate with each other on a continuing basis after divorce as the lives of their minor children evolve, to assure the best interests and success of the children in the years to come.

Barbara Rowens, CDFA

With over 18 years of experience in financial services, Barbara guides individuals and families through life transitions such as divorce. She specializes in divorce financial planning making sure her clients sustain financial peace of mind during and after their divorce. Working with clients and their team of divorce professionals, she helps them to understand how the financial decisions they make during their divorce will impact their future.
